CORPORAL ADAMS BURIED.

Greensboro Mourns the Loss of the Young Soldier.

MANY TRIBUTES OF RESPECT

To the Memory of the Dead Hero—Three Volleys Fired Over His Grave by His Comrades.

The body of Corporal W. Chase Adams arrived in this city yesterday from Jacksonville, accompanied by a sergeant, a corporal and seven privates of Company M, of which company Mr. Adams was an officer. A large number of friends were at the depot to meet the body of the dead soldier, who gave his all on the altar of his country and who is no less a hero than he who offered up his life amid the shock of battle.

The casket was literally covered with floral decorations of all kinds. The most beautiful and conspicuous of them are:

A crescent wreath of cycas leaves, pink and white roses and ferns given by the employees of the Mutual Telephone Company, of Erie, Pa.

A pillow of roses, asters, and maiden hair ferns from Company M.

A Maltese cross of roses, lillies, and ferns from Mr. De Laigle Sadler, a private in the company of which Mr. Adams was a member.

A lyre of exquisite roses and asters from Company C, formerly the Forsyth Riflemen, of Winston, and another lyre of tube roses and ferns from Col. Armfield.

A Cuban and United States flag joined together with a bunch of roses and tri-colored ribbon from Miss Addie Williams of Charlotte.

A wreath of asters and ferns from Lieutenant Hirshinger, of Company A and a crescent of roses and asters from Miss Sadie Hirshinger.

A sword of flowers from Mr. Simon Baruch and a wreath of flowers from Mr. Samuel B. Waters, Jr., a warm friend of the deceased.

Numerous additions to these beautiful tributes of love were added by friends and relatives here.

The casket containing the remains of the most popular member of the First regiment and one whose death cast a cloud of gloom over the tented city at Jacksonville, was placed in a hearse and, behind his former comrades and followed by many loving friends, taken to the house of Mr. S. C. Dodson, on East Market street. Streams of friends called during the day and viewed for the last time, with tear dimmed eyes, the features of a man whose friends were innumerable, won by a bright, sunny and gentle disposition.

All night long by the bier of the deceased soldier were two of his former comrades and friends. The soldiers who accompanied the casket are:

Sergeant Page, Corporal Pegram and Prives Ralph Grose, Press Freeman, Eugene Carpenter, Fred Cates, John Ferris, W. H. Jones and Chas. Mosteller.

On the casket had been placed a silver plate bearing the following inscription:

oooooooooooooooooooooooooooo
o Corporal W. Chase Adams, o
o Died August 12, 1898, o
o Aged 28 years. o
o Co. M, 1st N. C. Infantry, U. S.V. o
oooooooooooooooooooooooooooo

Below is a brief sketch of the life of Corporal Adams:

William Chase Adams was born in Greensboro, March 12th, 1871. His father is Mr. Peter H. Adams, his mother Miss Hattie Gilmer, a sister of Judge Gilmer, of this city, Mrs. A. G. Brenizer, of Charlotte, and Mrs. S. J. Perry, of Rock Hill, S. C.

His mother died three weeks after he was born. He was reared by Mrs. Perry, who was then living in Columbia, S. C. She afterward moved to Charlotte, and Mr. Adams spent his boyhood days there. After his father's second marriage, he went to live with him at West Point, Va. When quite young he went abroad on a sailing veseel, leaving here as a passenger, but before returning had taken a hand as a mate, and learned a great deal of nautical life. On his return from abroad he went in his father's office and remained there until he returned to Charlotte about seven years ago to accept a position in the office of the Southern railway. He left Charlotte in 1896 and went to Baltimore to accept a position with the Home Telegraph Company. From Baltimore he went to Erie, Pa. He remained there until war was declared and then went to Jacksonville to join the Queen City Guards, his old company. He joined as a private but was soon promoted to corporal.

This morning at ten o'clock the funeral services were held in St. Barnabas Episcopal church and the order of burial was read by the rector, Rev. Horace Weeks Jones. The church was crowded with friends and relatives. Messrs Jno. Fariss, C. H. Ireland, S. L. Alderman, Alfred Scales, H. C. Berger, C. M. Vanstory, Jno. Michaux and W. J. Horney acted as pall bearers.

The services were concluded at the grave in the presence of several hundred friends. A salute of three volleys was fired over his grave by his former comrades and the body of a hero was laid to rest to await the bugle call at the day when the soldiers of God will enter the eternal camping ground.

Mrs. Pritchett was seventy-eight and a half years old and was held in high esteem and loved by a wide circle of friends. Her body was laid to rest yesterday afternoon at five o'clock by the side of her husband at Alamance church. The largest crowd that has ever attended a funeral at this old church was in attendance yesterday. Mrs. Pritchett had been a faithful member of this church from early childhood. In the event of China refusing to comply with this demand England will hold them until compliaace is assured.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT. N. C., Aug. 15, '98.

S. A. Thompson and Miss Florence Lovelace were married yesterday by Squire J. W. Guyer.

The visible supply of "old timey" bonnets in the city yesterday was increased 1,000 per cent.

As some of our readers were anxious to know where our visitors were stopping we regret that our personal items were crowded out of both Saturday's and today's Telegram for lack of space.

The democratic primary of the north and south precinct of High Point township was held Saturday in the opera house. Eighteen delegates were appointed to the county convention to be held in Greensboro Saturday Aug. 20th.

The attendance at the Yearly Meeting yesterday was about as large as usual. With the exception of many of the good old Quakers the visitors were mostly young people. No finer day could have been expected, there was no wind or dust. There were several extra policemen to be seen who could find nothing to pull. There were vehicles of every description, from ox carts to pneumatic tire buggies. In fact there were several horseless carriages to be seen but in most cases they were shoved by the 'old man' and but one little infant to each carriage. With the exception of one or two scraps, the report of which we are compelled to withhold as they seemed inevitable, it was a very quiet day. Bill Ragan, who left on last Tuesday to get up his "duds" for the big day, was there in full dike. Sam Davis' "Jim-swinger" coat was one of the main attractions. The long and short of the whole affair was Chas. W. Lindsay, of Greensboro, and Sheriff Frank Redding, of Asheboro.

All sorts of feet, little feet, big feet, slim feet, thick feet, tender feet, long feet, all find fit, comfort, and durability in our men's and ladies foot-form shoes at Carolina Shoe Company.

A Little Babe Dead.

Mrs. S. M. Barnes, of Jonesboro, came up yesterday, being called here by the illness of her little granddaughter, Miriam, the infant child of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Stamey. It gives us sorrow to state that the life of the little babe is dispaired of and we extend our sympathy to the sorrowing parents.

Later—We learn after the above was written that the little girl died this afternoon at four o'clock. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock from Centenary church and the body will be interred in Greene Hill cemetery.

May the sorrowing parents see behind God's frown His look of tenderness and love.

Two Store-Breakers Caught.

Alex Jarrel was arrested Saturday evening for stealing tools from an unfinished house in South Greensboro. Alex is a full-fledged drunkard and has often pawned his own tools for whiskey, but has always managed to stay out of trouble before. Lon Smith, a fellow carpenter, reported Alex and Alex in turn told the officers that he and Smith were the men, who a short while ago broke into the store of W. T. Wyatt at Morehead. On this evidence Smith was also placed in jail. Alex admits his guilt in both cases though Smith denies having any part in either theft. They were tried before a magistrate and bound over to court.

The "Boss" Excursion.

The biggest excursion of the season pulled out at about 9:30 o'clock this morning for Wilmington over the C. F. and Y. V. It was a colored excursion with one car for white people. The train was made of seven coaches, all of which were well filled. Three more coaches were taken on below here, and advices from down the road said they would also be filled to overflowing. Capt. Cal Donnell and several deputies had charge of the train.

Another Victim of The Train.

The Winston train killed another man last night about three miles this side of Winston. Tom Carter a colored man 62 years old was the victim this time. It is said that Carter was drunk and carelessly remained on the track. It is also said that Carter was to have been arrested today for stealing watermelons.

The Winston train is making a bad record. This is the third man killed and one seriously injured by this train within the past few weeks.

GEN. MILES NOTIFIES MACIAS

That the Protocol Has Been Duly Signed

TROOPS WILL BE GARRISONED

Transports to Manila Ordered to Wait—Lee in Many Conferences. Sick Soldiers at Montaunk.

Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Ponce, August 14—Delayed in transmission—Yesterday General Miles cabled to Captain General Macias at San Juan, the fact that the protocol had been signed. Today he received from General Macias an acknowledgment of the receipt of his notification. General Miles also sent Capt. Mickler with a flag of truce to bear the same intelligence to the Spanish commander at Albonito.

General Miles is undecided whether to personally remain here during the period of negotiations. It has been definitely decided that the four army columns will remain where they now are until peace negotiations are completed and the Spanish army withdrawn. The volunteers are now anxious to get home although orders have been issued to make the troops as comfortable as possible. The transports have arrived and are being unloaded as no orders to the contrary have been received.

RETURNING TROOPS ARRIVE.

Montaunk Point, L. I., August 15—The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul arrived this morning with the second regiment of infantry and a battalion of the Seventy-first New York volunteers aboard. The rough riders on the Miami began to disembark at noon.

LEE IN CONSULTATION.

Washington, Aug. 15—General Lee held a conference with Adjutant General Corbin and Secretary Alger this morning. He will confer with the president in regard to the Cuban situation later in the day.

TRANSPORTS TO MANILA HELD.

San Francisco, Aug. 15—Secretary of War Alger has caused inquiry to be made of Gen. Merritt as to his need of additional forces. The following despatch has been received by Merriam in response to inquiries as to the advisability of permitting the transports Arizona and Scandia to depart pending the completion of peace negotiations:

"You will hold the Arizona and King's troops in readiness to sail immedialely and should so be ordered. I will advise you as soon as possible.

[Signed] Corbin.

The order has occassioned much displeasure among the troops, but they continue to be hopeful that garrisons will be established at Manila and Hawaii, and that the seeming probability of difficulties with the Philippine insurgents will make an early departure necessary.

MR. DAY AND COL. HAY.

Secretary of State Day has formally tendered his resignation to take effect on September 1st. His resignation was accepted and President McKinley has offered the portfolio of State to Colonel John Hay, our Ambassador to England. Col. Hay has notified the President of his acceptance.

Mr. Day leaves the cabinet with the highest esteem of his associates and the American people. He accepted this most responsible position at the earnest request of the President and entered the official family wholly inexperienced in the art of diplomacy, but immediately gave evidence that he possessed to a remarkable degree that tack, patience and judgment which, combined, are so essential to the making of a successful diplomatist. His administration of the duties devolving upon him has met the approval and admiration of his fellow officers. To him was assigned the delicate duty of arranging with Ambassador Cambon the terms of the protocol. How well he has succeeded in this is shown by the confidence imposed in his judgment and tack in the selection of him by the President as chairman of the peace commission.

Mr. Day has completed his great work and, like Cincinnatus, having finished the duty to which his country called him, he retires once more to private life. His example is worthy of the best traditions of the republic.

Colonel Hay is not a stranger to diplomatic moves on the international chessboard but enters the cabinet with the experience gained while assistant Secretary of State in the Hayes administration, which has been increased by the success that has attended his service as our Ambassador to the Court of St. James. His personality, his attainments, his social standing, and intimate relations with all the leading men of England and the Ambassadors of the European powers at London, all point to the belief that in him President McKinley has found a worthy successor to Mr. Day and one who will prove of inestimable service to the administration in the setting of the problem of the Philippines.

With the signing of protocol comes questions which will try to the utmost the skill of our diplomatists. The settlement of the question of the Philippines will necessarily occupy the greatest attention and need the most delicate handling in order that the rights of America may receive their just recognition. The "powers" threaten to take a hand and complicate the matter and show the United States that they shall have a word to say to in regard to the disposition of these islands. It might be well for the "powers" to think twice before they attempt any game of bluff and bluster. They forced Japan to do their bidding but they will awake, if they attempt to dictate to America, to a sad realization of the fact that there is quite a shade of difference between Japan and the United States. The admonition of Admiral Dewey to Emporer William's brother might prove a good and wise rule upon which the "powers" would do well to concentrate a great deal of their thought. Uncle Sam has a peculiar way of attending to his own business after a pattern which does not bear a foreign imprint.

May it not be termed a sort of poetic justice that Ambassador Cambon should have signed the protocol seated in the chair used by Secretary Long at Cabinet meetings? Under the direction of the man to whom the chair belongs the American navy sank and destroyed the pride and glory of the Spanish navy and made the Spanish government feel the terrible force of the American sea power.

"There is retribution in history" and Governor Russell, so Chairman Simmons says, is now sure to receive a dose of it at the hands of the next legislatature. Let the kusser be impeached by all means.

There is no record of any challenge having been received from any of the Europeon powers for a race with Spain for the cup which that defeated nation is now draining to the bitter dregs.

Let us sincerely hope that the next fifteen days will prove to be the "better half" of August.

The Cry Rendered Pointless.

The negro national democratic league at its second day's session in New York on Wednesday last adopted a platform criticising the war department, and declaring: "We firmly believe that the best interests of the race would be subserved by the election of a democratic congress this fall; and we hereby pledge ourselves to use every honorable effort for the election of the same."

Before the declaration of war with Spain the election of a democratic congress was freely admitted to be altogether likely. Since the beginning of hostilities, however, the republican field marshals, in order to keep their lines steady, have raised the cry that the people never change their politics during a war; but the cry has been rendered pointless by the labors of the peacemakers, and the likelihood results will prove it to have been entirely futile.—Philadelphia Record.

The Stanly Bonds are Legal.

Salisbury, August 14—Capt. Charles Price, division counsel of the Southern railway, was notified today by Col. H. C. Cowles, clerk of the Federal court at Statesville, that Judge Simonton had filed his opinion in the Stanly county bond case. The temporary injunction granted by Judge Simonton some time ago is continued to the final hearing and Hon. Kerr Craige, of Salisbury, is appointed receiver of the taxes collected for the year 1896 for the payment of the interest on the bonds. Judge Simonton upholds the validity of the bonds. The case will in all probability be appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. This opinion is the result of the hearing before Judge Simonton in Charlotte some time ago and readers of the Observer are familiar with the history of this litigation. The amount involved is $100,000—Charlotte Observer.

The Best Remedy for Flux.

Mr. John Mathias, a well known stock dealer of Pulaski, Ky., says: "After suffering for over a week with flux, and my physician having failed to relieve me, I was advised to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and have the pleasure of stating that the half of one bottle cured me." For sale by C. E. Holton.

Peaches are so plentiful in Georgia that they are fed to hogs. The choicest fruit can be bought there for 20 cents per bushel.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for consumption, coughs and colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at C. E. Holton's drug store.

POWERS READY TO SPRING.

Watching Closely Our Advent in the East.

Madrid, August 13—The following exposition of Spain's present position and aims is from the lips of one who knows not only what goes on behind the scenes in Spain, but in the whole European sphere of action and influence. These are his words:

"Spain very wisely bowed to America's requirements in the preliminary negotiations. The conditions, after all, only affect West Indian questions, and even there Spain can hope to minimize the consequences of the war through the mixed commissions and with the moral support of European powers.

"As regards the Philippine question, Spain has splendid trump cards to play. First, the Americans desire not to jeopardize the results secured in the West Indies by too harsh demands in the Philippines.

"Secondly, the certainty of finding such support as China had against Japan from Russia and Germany, who all along have been playing the prompter to France in these negotiations, desiring to step in whenever opportunity arises.

"If the American government or its commissioners afford the slightest pretext for it there will be developed a deep game, having the most important bearing upon the far east, and even upon the balance of power and commercial rivalries, questions of vastly more moment in the eyes of the Continental courts and governments than the question of helping Spain out of her difficulties. Meanwhile Spain will adopt in the commissions the usual old-world, dilatory, quibbling tactics.

"No previous stage of her conflict with America has excited in Europe anything like the interest that the labors of the commissions in Cuba, Porto Rico, and especially of the commission in Paris, are certain to excite. Neither Japan nor England seem awake to what is brewing under the affected unconcern and neutrality of continental diplomacy. Japan averted complications by giving up. The question is whether the United States can afford to do otherwise."

About one month ago my child which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by C. E. Holton.

ITALY'S CONGRATULATIONS.

First Foreign Power to Express Satisfaction at the Ending of the War.

Washington, Aug. 14—The United States government today received the first congratulations from a foreign power upon the successful termination of the war with Spain. The congratulations came from Italy, through the Italian ambassador, Baron Fava. He communicated to the state department, by direction of his government, an expression of the cordial satisfaction of Italy at the prompt signature of the preliminaries of peace, together with the wish of the Italian government, that after the war, conducted with such conspicuous gallantry by the United States, this country might enjoy the benefits of peace.

Ambassador Fava, in presenting the views of his government, expressed the hope that they be communicated as soon as possible to the president.

A Pittsburg company has received an order for 770 tons of steel plate, to be used in the construction of steamers at Belfast. This is the largest single shipment ever made from this country.

Tumor
In the Breast
Cured

Six or seven years ago I had a lump so known to come in my breast which made it swell so much that it became so hard I could not make a dent in the breast. It was so painful and caused me to suffer so that some nights I could hardly turn in the bed or rest. Nothing did me any good, and I was very uneasy, not knowing how it would terminate. I used one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, without stopping on it, and it made a perfect cure of me. The lump disappeared gradually and I have never had any trouble from it since.

GEN. LEE IS SARCASTIC.

He Will at Once Order His Men to Cease Firing.

Jacksonville, Aug. 12—Gen. Lee received a telegram from the Adjutant General at Washington today announcing that peace had been declared. He wired in reply:

"Thank you, I will at once order the Seventh corps to cease firing."

The General was at least facetious even if not sarcastic, as this city is about the nearest that any of the regiments of his command have got to Cuba.

The Seventh army corps will probably get an opportunity to go there to do garrison duty, however, but this is not a particularly pleasant thought to a good many, who would prefer to return home, saying they did not enlist for police duty, but rather to fight for their country, and opportunities for that being over, they no longer have any desire to serve.

Herbert Spencer is busy in his Brighton home revising those of his books which need to be squared with increased knowledge of today. He is now a feeble old man, and has been obliged to decline all correspondence save that of immediate personal concern.

Can't Wipe It Out.

McClure's Magazine for August concludes a series entitled the Reminiscences of Charles A. Dana that are of thrilling interest. The imprisonment of Jefferson Davis is fully explained, and the placing of fetters on the limbs to the defenceless old man by General Nelson A. Miles, now commander of the American army, is a stigma that the capture of Porto Rico will not wipe away.

It is true General Miles had authority from the secretary of war to put Mr. Davis in irons if he deemed it necessary for the security of his prisoner, but was not necessary, and the reader is forced to the conclusion that it was done to humiliate a heart-broken man already overburdened.

It would have been an outrage to have treated Cervera with unnecessary cruelty, Spaniard as he is; much more so an American citizen and a gentleman, albeit a "rebel," falsely so called.—Charity and Children.

A SPANISH BRAVADO.

A Striking Description of the Daring and Courage Displayed by the Retired General Who Would Not Permit an Englishman to Outdo Him.

The realistic Spanish novelist, Valdes, in one of his most popular stories ("Sister San Suplice," translated by Nathan Haskell Dole) gives a description of a retired Spanish general's afternoon out which will illuminate many chivalric incidents in Spanish life and aptly illustrates the reckless daring and courage of which the average haughty don is liberally possessed. The scene is a sort of picnic grounds in the outskirts of Seville:

"Meantime the animation had been on the increase among the ruffians. The period of unmannerly action had come. One of them climbed upon the table to make a speech, and the others, by way of applause, threw sherry and manzanilla in his face. Another was trying to lift with his teeth a companion whom drunkenness had stretched out on the floor. He did not succeed. He merely tore his sack coat. Still others were committing absurd and extravagant actions, making a great noise and uproar.

"The count remained grave and silent, drinking one glass of sherry after another. But his eyes were no longer, as usual, incomprehensible and unfathomable, like those of a man tired of life. Though he did not speak or move about he seemed a different man.

"The Englishman had taken off his jacket and waistcoat, and, rolling up his shirt sleeves, was exhibiting his biceps, which were really powerful, and trying to break empty bottles on his arm. Once blood had come, but he went on breaking the bottles without paying any attention to it. Then he asked the waiter to bring a bottle of rum and a large glass. He filled this to the brim with the liquor, and then slowly, without moving a muscle or even winking, he drained it to the bottom. Then he sat down at the table opposite the count and said solemnly:

"'You can't do that.'

"A flash of fury gleamed through the harebrained nobleman's eyes, but he succeeded in restraining himself, and, turning the rest of the bottle into the glass, he calmly ordered the waiter to bring him some pepper. He threw in a pinch of it, then threw into it his cigar ashes heaped up before him, and, without saying a word, with the same scornful, contemptuous smile, drained the glass, and, not content with that, bit it in pieces. We saw his lips spotted with blood. The company received with oles and shouts of triumph this proof of an unconquerable stomach, in which it seemed as though the national honor were concerned.

"Our neighbors in the other booths must have reached the same happy grade of temperature, for nothing was heard but extravagant shouts, the crashing of glasses, coarse laughter and swearing.

"The count was not yet satisfied with his victory over the Englishman. While he was swallowing with apparent calmness the glasses of liquor which were offered to him he did not cease to devour him with his eyes, carried away by a dull madness, which soon broke out. His eyes, which were the only part of his impassive face that moved, gleamed more and more ferociously, like those of a madman when a straitjacket has been put on him. The Englishman continued to boast of his strength. He was now thoroughly intoxicated and talking impudently enough to the others, who were not so drunk.

"'So you are very valiant, are you?' asked the count, still smiling disdainfully.

"'More than you,' retorted the Englishman.

"Don Jenaro started to spring at him, but the others restrained him. Soon calming himself, he said:

"'If you are so brave, why not put your hand on the table?'

"'What for?'

"'To pin it down with mine.'

"The Englishman, without an instant's hesitation, stretched out his huge, brawny hand. The count took out of his pocket a damaskeened dagger and laid his delicate, gentlemanly hand on the Englishman's, and without hesitation and with a ferocious grip he raised the point with the other and drove it through both into the table.

"The women uttered a cry of terror. All of us men ran to their assistance. A few left the place in search of help. In an instant our booth was filled with blood. From the wounds great drops of blood streamed, staining the handkerchiefs which we applied to them.

"A doctor who happened to be among the bystanders dressed the wounds provisionally with the few means at his disposal. The count smiled while they were dressing his hand. The Englishman was as sick as a horse and vomiting. Soon the count was doing the same, and both were taken to such rooms as the establishment had to offer and went to bed. Every one left, commenting on the barbarism of the deed."

If She Were a Man.

"Oh," she suddenly exclaimed, "I wish I were a man."

"What would you do?" he asked.

"I'll not say what I would do, but there is one thing I will confess that I wouldn't do."

"And that is?"

"I wouldn't sit around as if I had handcuffs on when I happened to be alone with a girl."—Cleveland Leader.

SCRAPPY EXCURSIONISTS.

Loads of Pleasure Seekers Add to The City's Gaiety.

Truly an excursion provoketh evil. Saturday afternoon Officer Jordan arrested Gather Gibbs for stealing hides from W. F. Clegg and Brother. Gather sold his steal to John J. Phoenix and was using the money to make preparations for a trip to the seashore for his health. He intended going on the excursion to Wilmington this morning but the officer spoiled his plans by placing him in jail.

This morning just before the excursion to Wilmington pulled out three colored fellows had a little misunderstanding and resorted to blows to settle the matter. Two of the boys are brothers and when the other battery opened fire they responded simultaneously. Poor aim on both sides was the feature of the engagement but the two brothers were gradually overpowering their opponent. Officer Jordan, seeing that a prolonged engagement meant unnecessary loss of strength for the weaker side, offered his services as peace commissioner. A protocol was drawn up and signed by both sides and the boys jumped on the excursion and went to Wilmington to recuperate. A final settlement will be made in the mayor's court when the boys return.

Early this morning a strange negro dropped into the Carolina Shoe Company's and asked to look at some shoes. Banks Boone who is always prompt, was never more so than this time and he soon found a pair of shoes that suited his customer exactly. While Banks stepped to the rear of the store for something the negro slipped the shoes under his coat and went out the front door like a rocket. Banks was quick to follow and a second later the two were coming up the sidewalk only a short distance apart. The negro turned at Houston's corner and ran toward Phoenix's. Banks had left no one in the store and thought it best to return. He immediately notified the police but the chasee has not been caught yet. Whether he is another excursion crank is not known.
